PHYSICIANS CORNERED.

I suppose there is not in the whole of a physician's experience anything in human suffering which calls forth his sympathy and pity so much as to witness the excruciating pains of a ... suffering from that terrible disease Rheumatism. Heretofore there has been a wonder, ... diversity of opinion among medical men, as to the true character of this disease, some locating it in the ... tissues of the system, and others viewing it as an acute nervous disease, but it is now generally admitted to be a disease arising from a poison circulating in the blood, and ... that rheumatism can never be thoroughly cured without exterminating such poisonous matter from the blood by a constitutional internal remedy. We feel confident that none will feel better satisfied and rejoice more than ... the conscientious physician who has found out that a true cure for this stubborn disease has been discovered. The following testimony from a Portland gentleman cannot fail to satisfy all that the

Diamond Rheumatic Cure

PORTLAND, Dec. 11, 1874.

J. P. ... Editor:

Dear Sir: I am induced by you ... to bear testimony to the efficacy of the Diamond Rheumatic Cure. During the past year I have suffered greatly from this common and agonizing affliction, Rheumatism. My shoulder was so affected that my left arm was powerless and I despaired of ever again having the use of that limb. I was induced by hearing of the many marvellous cures accomplished by the agent while staying in the Preble House to buy a bottle. It is sufficient to say that without faith in the medicine or its cure, ... taking ... small bottles I was entirely relieved. ... weeks ... since elapsed and I am still all right. ... with a ... use of the arm ... I attribute to the use of the Diamond Rheumatic Cure. I have the kindness to give my testimony ... for the benefit of suffering humanity.

THE BATTLE OF THE WILDERNESS.

WHERE AND HOW GENERAL CONNOR OBTAINED HIS CRUTCHES.

A survivor of the battle of the Wilderness who some three years ago saw Gen. Connor toiling along the street on crutches was moved to write an account of that battle and the part Gen. Connor took in it, which he sent to the Lewiston Journal and which was published in that paper. It is all the more interesting as it was not written as a campaign document. The writer says:

While visiting the capital of your State a few weeks ago, I saw a gentleman toiling along the street on crutches. Seeing him for the first time since 1864, a host of memories connected with the last year of the war revived, and, in my imagination the battles of the Wilderness Petersburg campaign, were fought over again. I refer to Gen. Selden Connor. Do you, Mr. Editor, and do your readers know the circumstances attending the infliction of that wound? If not, I would like to relate them, though without consulting the General, for his modesty would forbid such proceeding. A conviction that the part he took in the engagement in which he received the wound that bears so heavily upon him, should be placed on enduring record,—that mention of it in your columns, if it has never yet been made, would be a deserved recognition of an instance of valor of as brave and meritorious an officer as ever stood with his troop in the "deadly breach"—prompts these lines.

A writer speaks of the "decisive" battles of the war. The one in the Wilderness does not belong in the catalogue, yet it must be reckoned as one of the most bloody and critical. Those who have read the story of this battle remember that it occurred at and adjacent to a place where two roads cross—the Plank road, running east and west and the Brock road, running north and south. One of our army corps (Warren's) while marching from the Rapidan down the Brock road toward Richmond, was at the junction of these roads, attacked by a body of the enemy, that dashed against it from the Plank road on the west. Here the first blood of the battle was spilled. The fight was furious, and for a time the result seemed doubtful. This was the nucleus of the battle; brigade after brigade filed in, and prolonging it either end the already engaged line, at once closer with the enemy, the roar of musketry was unprecedented in the history of the war; so dense was the mass of small trees that the combatants were generally invisible to each other; as to seeing much of the enemy, the conflict might as well have taken place in the night,—consequently the warring lines were oftentimes very near together, and the leaden rain poured from both sides through the foliage with awful effect. The dead in some places lay in line almost as complete as that of a regiment on parade.

It was for the Brock road that the rebels were struggling and they obtained it, the history of the campaign would have been widely different from what it is. But their onslaughts were overcome, and during the night a breastwork was thrown up along the Brock road, and batteries planted where the roads meet.

Early the next morning the combat was renewed. The left of our line of battle—squarely facing the West—was composed of the Second Corps (Hancock's) aided ultimately by the Ninth (Burnside's). It extended along the Brock road, across the Plank road, until it joined Warren's troops on the right. It is the Second Corps at the point where it crossed the Plank road, that this letter has to deal. The incident I recall and record may at first thought, perhaps seem trivial, in view of the magnitude of the contest of which it was a part, but trifles no greater than this, and valor no more signally displayed, have decided the final result of many a long battle since history began.

From the hour the Second Corps reached the field, Col. Connor's regiment was in the front. In the morning it was detached from its brigade to prolong the line of the assaulting column that pushed the enemy a long way backward. When the rebound of the enemy which succeeded this attack was at length stayed, Col. Connor's command was again detached,—this time being assigned a position north of the Plank road, and close to and at nearly a right angle with it, it filled a gap between Burnside's left and the Plank road. In this position, during the engagement that followed, the murderous muskets of the enemy struck down from its ranks more than one hundred and fifty in about as many seconds. At last, exhausted and out of ammunition, the line, at its right not acting entirely in concert, the regiment paused in its efforts to advance, and details were sent back to fetch cartridges.

It was now near mid-day; the conflict had been incessant since day began,—both armies had surged furiously to and fro,—each had been driven by the other. At this moment the rebels were at bay all along the line. On the left of the road, the Federal column bid for the second or it paused involuntarily for a moment, as if to take breath and gather strength for a final, desperate attempt to penetrate them.

The pause was fatal to victory;—that it did not bring defeat to the Union army let us be thankful!

The enemy, quick to take advantage of a weakness, suddenly in a column, struck obliquely our left flank, and with musketry, poured directly from their front, threw consternation and disorder into the Federal column which comprised nearly an entire division. The demoralization was complete; Lee himself could not have wished it more so. Six thousand or more panic-stricken men endeavored to rush back, pell-mell, through the dense, bullet-scarred forest thicket, huddling in great groups like terrified sheep, flags and banners trailing or abandoned, representatives of fifty regiments in a single squad, conscious of naught save utter helplessness,—officers, and many of them of national reputation, in the delirium of dismay at the futility of their efforts to restore order and power of resistance form chaos!

Back, I say, pell mell,—as useless for instant battle as a flock of sheep—towards the Brock road and the open air, through the difficult debris and bullet lopped trees—fairly into the plank road, only the rebel cannon make that an uncomfortable bowling alley just now,—back toward the breastworks got together last night, back toward the batteries, ... toward anything or anywhere, if so they can but get out of the Pandemonium,—back perchance, to the Rapidan. For the rebels are pressing, the bleeding, helpless mob ... on, on' steadily with unbroken ranks they come, yell ... and ... of ... cating their progress through the darksome wood ... of perfect victory seems to ... Confederacy ... and ... to gain the Brock road with unbroken ranks and ... from the ... and Stripes; the tide of battle ... minutes or more has been setting most fearfully against them. What could save the day? Surely, to all human appearances, only something providential.

Col. Connor's remnant of a regiment was replenishing itself with ammunition, at the moment the reverse began. The fact that our main attacking column was precipitously retreating, hotly pursued by the enemy, was at once known to the force north of the road, yet it abandon their own position and go to the rescue would invite still worse, if not universal disaster. The catastrophe had come so suddenly, and the enemy were advancing so rapidly, that there was little time for deliberation. The dispirited column, broken into fragments, pressing feverishly toward the rear, presently came dimly in view across the road, followed by the rebel column. The Brock road had been nearly reached pursued and pursuers! In five minutes more the confederate phalanx would have attained it! And then?

Suddenly Col. Connor wheeled his command parallel with the Plank road and deliberately delivered volley after volley in rapid succession, directly into the flank of the rebel divisions. Never did section of a line of battle change front more opportunely, and seldom, if ever, was volley crueller and more telling in effect. The enemy faltered, half dismayed at the ambush which they supposed for the time they had been coaxed into; half panic-stricken, it was with difficulty that their officers could keep them from fleeing.

They instantly perceived they were encountering an organized resistance—its magnitude they could only guess at by the slaughter in their ranks. They instinctively felt that their enemy had been playing a base trick upon them by retiring so steadily before them. They were not to be decoyed—not they and would advance no farther! The check was complete. At least fifteen minutes elapsed before they recovered from the shock, and during that interval the disorganized mass of troops they had been pursuing, gained the Brock road and the entrenchments along it. Once out of the dim half-impenetrable forest, the work of speedily reforming scattered battalions and reducing something like order was possible, and comparatively easy. Never was a point of time more precious to the Union cause, or providentially gained! Indeed, the enemy did not, for about three hours, venture beyond the point where the flank volleys were poured into them.

I say never was a brief period of time more valuable to the Union forces, yet a handful of men, less than three hundred, with fatally directed volleys, were instrumental in obtaining it, what seemed like imminent defeat was warded off by the resolute standing, amid the wildest disorder, of a small body of troops under the lead of an intelligent, brave and beloved officer. And it was not without cost. As soon as the enemy began to recover from their surprise, they proceeded to change front, and open fire upon their assailants. Col. Connor sprang forward into the road to beckon a charge upon the foe,—almost instantly he was struck by a bullet helpless to the ground. His fall was taken by his troops as their signal to retire; the enemy were hovering close on their flanks, and they fell back to the Brock road; their wounded leader being borne from the field, a cripple for life and narrowly escaping capture.

Such, Mr Editor, was the manner in which the wound that necessitates those crutches was received.

THE DEMOCRATIC FALSEHOOD ABOUT THE COLLEGE SCRIP

[From the Portland Press.]

It is hardly worth while to exhaust one's strength in stamping on a dead lie, but this Democratic lie about the Agricultural College Scrip was of such huge proportions that like Jim Nye's skunk, "it deserves punishment ... death." We have procured from Augusta copies of certain official documents which show the whole thing up so conclusively that we give considerable space this morning to their publication. First, we give the official report of the Executive Council, embracing indeed a succinct and authentic history of the whole transaction.

"STATE OF MAINE.

IN COUNCIL, Dec 29, 1866.

The Committee of the whole Council to which was referred the subject matter herein of, report:

That by chapter 352 of the Laws of 1865, Sec. 16, the Governor and Council were authorized to make sale of the Land Scrip assigned to the State of Maine for the endowment of the College of Agricultural and the Mechanic Arts —that early after the adjournment of the Legislature the Governor and Council informally communicated to the trustees of said college a desire that they should associate some persons members of said board to advise in relation to such sale. For some reason this was not complied with until December 1865, when a communication was received, signed by a majority of the trustees, advising the sale of the Scrip "at an early day at the best rate which it may command," which communication is herewith submitted. Immediately upon the receipt of said communication the council passed an order, approved by the Governor, directing the Secretary of State to advertise for proposals for the same to be received up to the first day of March then next ensuing, in the state paper published at Augusta, in the Boston Daily Advertiser, in the New York Journal of Commerce and the New York Daily and Weekly Tribune, in the Chicago Tribune and the St. Louis Democrat, which was accordingly done. The following is a copy of the advertisement:

STATE OF MAINE.
Executive Department,
Augusta, Dec. 21, 1865.

SALE OF UNITED STATES LAND SCRIP.

Proposals will be received till the first day of March by His Excellency Samuel Cony, Governor of the State of Maine, for the purchase of the land scrip issued to said State for the endowment of a college for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts, in quantities not less than five thousand acres. Terms, cash, payable in lawful money at the office of Treasurer of State of Maine at Augusta, or at the Suffolk National Bank, Boston in twenty days after notice issued of acceptance of offer. The scrip to be delivered at Augusta. Right to reject proposals reserved.

All offers will be directed to the address of the Secretary of State, Augusta, Maine, and endorsed on the outside Proposals for Agricultural College Scrip.

EPHRAIM FLINT, Sec'y of State.

On the first day of March, 1866 the Governor and Council proceeded to examine the bids made, which in the aggregate were for two hundred and twenty-seven thousand and three hundred and sixty acres, as will appear by the schedule accompanying this report. The bids varied in amount from ten cents to sixty cents per acre. The bids in several instances, as will be perceived, were in the alternative to take a small amount at a larger price or a larger lot at a smaller price. It was determined by the board under the right reserved in the advertisement, to reject all bids below fifty-two and one half cents, and to accept those at and above that sum; the successful bids being for one hundred and twelve thousand three hundred and sixty acres, and those rejected for one hundred and twenty-five thousand acres. In as much as the bids allowed, absorbed but little over one half of the grant it was deemed for the interest of the state to accept those of the same individual for the largest quantity of land.

The successful bidders were duly notified by the Secretary of State that their offers were accepted by communication sent through the mail. From Chas. Davis of St. Louis, no reply was received. Mr. McClure of St. Cloud in consequence of some delay in the mails, did not receive his notice (which was that all his bids being for fifteen thousand three hundred and sixty acres were accepted,) in due season in consequence of which he ... to take ... scrip, having ... purchased elsewhere, ... made the ... acres ... upon the ... the first day of March, ... thousand three hundred acres of the land were sold. On the ... of March, D. Preston & Co., applied, as duplicate, their purchase, and on the 26th of the same month, to duplicate on the same terms of their first purchase, which was agreed to so that the sale to them amounted to ninety six thousand acres.

On the 15th day of March, Wm. K. Lancey proposed to take fifteen thousand acres and Gen. Franklin Smith ten thousand acres at fifty three cents per acre, and on the same day John Kimball for himself and others, proposed to take five thousand acres at fifty-three cents. These offers were severally accepted, and the extent of the forgoing sales including the bids of March 1st, which were consummated, was one hundred and ninety three thousand six hundred acres, being as near the quantity bid for as the size of the scrip would permit.

It having been suggested that the trustees of the College were desirous of having a portion of scrip reserved for location, it was decided not to sell but retain the balance subject to the action of the Legislature, and there now remains one hundred and two pieces of Scrip of one hundred and sixty acres each, being sixteen thousand and three hundred and twenty acres in all.

In conformity with the law of the state and the United States there has been purchased Bonds of the State of Maine bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, amounting to one hundred and four thousand five hundred dollars, leaving of the principal of the fund uninvested one hundred and ninety four dollars and seventy cents ($194.70.) The bonds and balance of the funds aforesaid have been deposited by the Governor with the Treasurer of State as also the sum of sixteen hundred and five dollars and fifty five cents being balance of interest, which last sum is subject to the order of the Treasurer of the trustees and of the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

Which is respectfully submitted
HIRAM RUGGLES, Chairman.
IN COUNCIL, Dec. 29th, 1866.

Read and accepted by the Council and by the Governor approved.

EPHRAIM FLINT
Secretary of State

And here we call the attention to the following communication from the trustees of the Agricultural College referred to in the foregoing Report of the Council and we make special reference to the names of the Trustees:

To His Excellency Samuel Cony, Governor of Maine.

The undersigned members of the Board of Trustees of the State College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts take this method to indicate their views regarding the disposition of the Land Scrip for said college, viz. That it seems desirable to sell the same at an early day, at the best rates it may command.

The weather during the past week has seemed to have been all that vegetation requires, and the appearance of the fields is full evidence that the above conclusion is correct, and not only a great ... for the past week, but for many weeks previous, yet business is generally dull, and the activity, or life of trade seems to have died out, yet nature may be at work on a compensating balance, in the growth of produce.

LOOSE HAY is brought into market in supply ... as to keep the price for the best qualities from $12 to $15, and occasionally a load at the rate of $ ... per ton. Swale and inferior qualities sell at nominal prices, from $8 to $10 and $11 per ton.

THE DISTINCTION.

Some of the Democratic papers unable to refute the criticisms upon the attitude maintained by the Democratic candidate for Governor during the most trying period of the war, attempt to evade the issue by asserting that the complaint is simply that Gen. Roberts remained a Democrat instead of becoming a Republican. Those wise organs which are assuming to support a candidate upon a patriot soldier record, fail to perceive that this argument puts their party in a bad position as it admits that Democracy and hostility to the war for the preservation of the Union were practically identical. But they must choose their own horn of the dilemma. The animadversions upon Gen. Roberts' course during the war is not of a political character, save in so far as they affect his attitude toward the national struggle in which our patriot soldiers of the Union were engaged against the armies of a treasonable rebellion. It is lack of sympathy for the Union cause and affiliation with those who reviled its defenders, rejoiced in its defeat and gave aid and comfort to the traitorous arms that is to be explained by the simple statement that he was a Democrat. That is so much the worse for Democracy, but we fail to see how it affects the actual record of the candidate as a supporter or opponent of the objects for which our soldiers were fighting in the field. If it was impossible for a man to be loyal to his country and a Democrat then that party should avoid all reference to war records. But there were Democrats who gallantly fought against rebellion, and others who at home loyally sustained the Government in its struggle for existence, although they repudiated the men who had brought scorn and disgrace upon the name of the party. The distinction to be made is very clearly pointed out by the following remarks of the Concord Monitor in reply to a contemporary who also became rather confused by the peculiarity of the war record made by the Democratic party under the management of its Bourbon faction.

The Patriot replies to our strictures with some warmth. It thinks we fail to see that a man could be a Democrat, fight to maintain the Union and preserve his political sentiments intact. Here it misjudges us. It is quite consistent for a Democrat to defend the Union army, but not afterwards to affiliate with those who subsequently put the Democratic party in opposition to the war. It was possible for a Democrat to preserve his principles intact and support the war policy of President Lincoln, as did our neighbor whose political inconsistency as we view it does not consist in having upheld President Lincoln but rather in subsequently joining hands not with the late Democratic party for that had become defunct, but with the men who opposed the war for the Union in every way they dared short of taking up arms; termed our boys in blue Lincoln's hirelings, denounced Gen. Grant as a butcher and declared that the North could never conquer a peace; men who, ever since peace was conquered at Appomattox, have opposed every measure designed to preserve the fruits of that struggle and secure justice to a downtrodden race.

In the closing sentences the reader will recognize a striking portraiture of the men with whom Gen. Roberts associated himself politically on retiring from the field in 1862, and there is equal significance in the fact that the same men now appear as the champions of his record as a patriot soldier.

E. & N. A. RAILWAY. A sub-committee of the investigating committee of the creditors of the E. & N. A. Railway Company completed on Saturday a careful examination of the road and rolling stock, and we learn that they express themselves much pleased with the generally good condition of the railway. Great pains have been taken by outsiders to create an impression that the track has been allowed to run down and deteriorate so as to render the road unsafe for travel, and we are glad to know that a committee, composed largely of experienced men assisted by most reliable engineering talent, pronounce the road not only safe, but in as good condition as most roads of its class, fully sustaining the statements made by Messrs. Jewett and Blake, at the meeting held here.

A meeting of the whole committee was holden on Friday evening, and we learn that it was then considered probable that very shortly the committee would be able to report a plan for the adjustment of the present financial difficulties of the Company.

"PATRIOTS."

[From the Kennebec Journal.]

The people of this State have not forgotten that Marcellus Emery, the editor of the home organ of General Roberts, was an enthusiastic admirer of Beauregard, the rebel general who led the attack against Fort Sumter. The following letter addressed by Beauregard to a member of the Confederate Congress at Richmond, in favor of executing "Abolition prisoners,"—Union soldiers—and hoisting the black flag in the war, is interesting at the present time when Mr. Emery is aspiring to lead the Democratic party.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 13, 1862.
Hon. Wm. P. Miles, Richmond, Va.:

Has the bill for the execution of Abolition prisoners, after January next, been passed? Do it, and England will be stirred into action. It is high time to proclaim the black flag after that period. Let the execution be with the garrote.
(Signed) G. T. BEAUREGARD.

On the first page to-day we quote from the Portland Press some further official records concerning the Agricultural College lands. The Press says: "The Agricultural Scrip story of Dr. Jordan proves to be so blundering a lie that the Argus makes a vapid effort to break the force of the crushing exposure that has been made of it. It would have been much better to have said that it was taken from the Maine Standard, which has such a horror of truth telling that a real fact never appears in its columns, so long as filth and falsehood can be found, and its editor never fails in that direction. Indeed, the man who could say of Abraham Lincoln that he 'will stink and stink and stink and stink like a rotten mackerel by moonlight,' is an adept in that department, and need fear no competition except from Dr. Jordan or Marcellus Emery."

General Roberts has informed us that he is not the author of the letters published in the Commercial, signed "A Comrade," and we desire to give full publicity to his contradiction of a report which reached us in a manner entitling it to attention. One would suppose that a comrade of the General who is so ready to take up the gauntlet in his behalf, would avoid the possibility of such misconceptions by emulating the manliness of Colonel Smith in writing openly over his own name. We do not understand the excessive modesty of the General's champions, if their names would add any weight to their indorsement.

COUNTY AND CONGRESSIONAL CAUCUSES. Our friends in the various towns where caucuses are to be held will oblige us by sending in the names of delegates chosen to attend the Congressional and County Conventions.

The sketch of the battle of the Wilderness and of the gallant part borne in it by General Connor, part of which was accidentally omitted from a former issue, will be found on our first page to-day.

Judge Noah Davis, who has been so sharply criticised in some quarters for imposing cumulative sentences on Wm. M. Tweed, wrote recently a letter to Charles O'Conor who, as senior counsel, was responsible for the conduct of the proceedings against Tweed, calling attention to the fact that the Court of Appeals in reversing those sentences relied greatly on an argument made by Mr. O'Conor in an earlier case, and asking why Mr. O'Conor had not called his attention to this argument. Mr. O'Conor in his answer shows that the Court of Appeals in a case intermediate between the argument referred to and the Tweed sentence overruled that argument, and takes advantage of the correspondence to defend at length the conduct of the Ring suits, and to express his surprise and regret at legal triumph of the peculators. He also points out what seriously inconvenient consequences to persons who have had anything to do with punishing Mr. Tweed might follow from the recent decision of the Court of Appeals.

Give it up Mr. Wing.—Bethel [illegible] Times. The reply is frank, and if the Times will not go on dragging Shakespeare into bad company we will not insist upon its furnishing "classic models" for all of the Maine Standard literature.

Our democratic exchanges all say that Col. Smith's "open letter" to Gen. Roberts will help the Democratic ticket immensely, but thus far they have studiously avoided giving it a place in their columns, and said a good many bitter and unhandsome things about its author. If it is a good thing for the General and his party, why don't they circulate it in their newspapers?—Kennebec Journal.

The Rockland Gazette says: "Confidence in men is often misplaced, and a blind confidence which is so little tempered with perception as to make one an easy prey to the unprincipled is not to be commended. But even this is better than a disposition which is chronically suspicious. Honest men are entitled to the presumption of honesty until they are proved rogues. As a rule, too, men who are proved worthy of confidence themselves repose most confidence in their fellows. The reverse of this is no less true. Go among the vile and the great majority of them will be found pronouncing Mr. Beecher vile in the matter of the charges that have been brought against him. On the other hand, a large majority of honest men believe Mr. Beecher honest and innocent of the crime laid to his charge."

Gen. Roberts, the victim that is to be sacrificed by the next fall's election, called for an aggressive campaign, and his champion Emery said that there must be much fighting. Doubtless both these gentlemen begin to think that the "aggressive" business runs in two directions. When in the name of common sense will Marcellus learn to keep his mouth shut in critical times?—Dexter Gazette.

Says the N. Y. Tribune: The absence of backbone in the Democratic press grows more apparent every day. A few journals which were bold enough to lift up their voices in protest against the rag-money mania in Ohio, are now saying that platforms don't mean much any way, and if Gov. Allen is elected on an inflation platform it will not have any influence on National politics. They have suddenly become enamored of the cry, "Men, not Principles," and are shouting it right lustily. They will find out when the next Presidential campaign opens, if they do not sooner, that the people are determined to have both Principles and Men, and that the party which disregards either one of these requisites will be set down hard on a back seat.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, inflationist organ, claims that Ohio can be carried heavily for Democracy and "soft money," but on the other hand the Cincinnati Gazette says:

"The prospects of a sweeping republican victory this Fall are growing brighter every day. They are brighter now than they were at the first of the month, and were brighter then than on the first of June. This remark is not made in the way of campaign boasting, but as the deliberate conclusion formed from a large number of letters, conversations with men in different parts of the State, and a careful examination of the county weekly papers. The Republicans are everywhere hopeful. The Democrats are despondent."

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The Duke of Sutherland, who is the largest land-owner in Great Britain, owns 1,176,343 acres in the County of Sutherland, and his wife has a little farm in Ross county of 149,879 acres.

J. N. Ostrom, stroke and captain of the victorious Cornell crew, is a carpenter by trade, and has supported himself at the University by working at the bench, helping about the farm and taking care of one of the buildings.

Mr. Holman, of Indiana, who is a great economist in Congress, declares that we cannot afford to take steps yet for returning to specie payments—that is, the time for honesty has not yet arrived. Thus the Democratic champions quail and go under one after another.

A Kentucky correspondent of the Cincinnati Times says that Gen. Harlan, the Republican candidate for Governor, "has driven the Democratic orators to the wall, and, in response to their cry for help, the State Executive Committee has sent into the field every available man capable of making a speech."

The Chicago Inter-Ocean shows that the next House of Representatives is, after all, likely to stand nineteen Republican State delegations to eighteen opposition, not counting in Colorado, which may or may not be admitted to the next Congress. This, if so, is not encouraging to Democratic machinations to throw the next Presidential election into Congress.

Can the Democracy of New York take this delicate hint from the Toledo, Ohio, Democrat:

"The Democrats of this State think they are better off without the assistance of Tilden than they would be with his help. He can remain quietly at home and take care of his boughs and street railroad interests, while the people of Ohio manage their own affairs."

If the Democratic party is now as pure as it claims to be, it has seen different days. One of its chief organs, the Cincinnati Enquirer, speaking of the way the United States Bank procured the passage of the bill securing its re-charter, says that the Democratic House of Representatives was secured by "judicious loans and gifts to members never entered upon the books of the charter. The record proves that no less than two hundred and fifty-five members received considerations of a pecuniary nature at the Bank." Has the party changed so very much?

ADVERTISING TELLS. We know a merchant who commenced with a small capital, who constantly advertised his business to the people who wanted his class of goods, and retired from business in sixteen years worth $2,000,000. We also know a firm who commenced in a similar business about the same time on a side street with $20,000 capital. They never advertised and at the end of sixteen years they were not known to four hundred customers in the country, and had not doubled their capital.—Albany Argus.

CARD.
TO THE LADIES.
I Am now manufacturing French Kid Button Boots, the best to be found in New England. These boots are really as Custom Made boots for $6.00.
The great trouble with the French Kid Boots made for the retail trade is that the uppers do not give satisfaction. One wears out much faster than the other, and frequently one part of an upper wears rough while the rest remains smooth, simply because no care is taken in selecting the parts of a skin from which to cut the uppers. Every lady has learned this from experience.
Every part of the upper should be cut from one skin and the parts so selected that the upper will wear smooth all over. I am making the finest French uppers that can be produced, & [illegible] in the neatest manner possible, thereby turning out a faultless boot, constructed on the McComber patent last (improved), which is so strongly recommended by every one that has worn boots made on this last, and which justly merits the praise given it. The bottom stock of these boots is the finest that can be selected. Made in four widths, and for style, fit, comfort and durability their equal cannot be produced. Every pair is warranted in every respect, and I would be pleased to have the Ladies call and examine these goods, whether they wish to purchase or not.
I also make Ladies' Boots to measure when desired.

Murder at Medway!

A WIFE KILLED BY HER HUSBAND,

THE MURDERER UNDER ARREST.

Excitement among the People

SPECIAL TO THE WHIG AND COURIER.

MEDWAY, July 18. There is great excitement among the people of Medway to-day, occasioned by the murder of a Mrs. Pangborn by her husband, about two o'clock this morning. The husband, George Pangborn, came from Guayamas, N. S., on the 10th inst., to obtain his wife and take her back with him, as is supposed. The murder was committed with an axe the use of which made a terrible wound causing her death, and was inflicted on the side of her head. The murderer is under arrest.

FROM BATH.

A Shocking and Fatal Accident.

BATH, July 18. John H. Rogers, of the firm of Rogers Bros. extensive lumber dealers and mill owners of this city, was killed this day while engaged in hauling lumber. He was on top of a heavily loaded team and while driving down a steep hill the harness gave way precipitating the load against the horses, frightening him so that he ran away. Rogers ran forward to ascertain the cause of the trouble when he fell back on the horse and the load. His sharp, ragged ends of the lumber stood and pierced him frightfully so that he died in a few minutes, but a few moments. He was 42 years old, and was widely known as an active, estimable man. He leaves a wife.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

NEW YORK CITY.

A Test Case on Third Class Postage.

NEW YORK, July 17. A case involving the constitutionality of the amended postage law has been brought in the U. S. Circuit Court for this District. A gentleman objects to paying the extra postage at the office to which it is sent. Being refused he applies for a mandamus to compel the Postmaster to receive the postage. The argument of the application is that the appropriation bill and the bill for the amendment increasing the rate on third class mail matter was inserted, was not a bill for raising revenue, that the amendment did provide ways and means for raising such revenue, that the senate has no constitutional authority to originate measures of that nature, that being the sole prerogative of the House, and that the possession of having originated with the House a bill which was not one of its constitutional purposes is unconstitutional.

Post Office Receipts.

The Chief Clerk reports that the receipts of the Post office department for the quarter ending June 30, were $7,776,945. Nearly 2,000 tons of newspapers were received at this office during the quarter. The balance in favor of the post office for the quarter is $1,905.

A Piece of Audacity.

The case of Miss Effie Pinkerton who eloped from Fall River with Allen, a married clerk in a dry goods store, and afterwards had an argument at the habeas corpus which was carried out by Allen to obtain possession of the girl from her parents was heard in the supreme court chambers to-day. The Judge dismissed the writ remarking that the taking out of the habeas corpus in such a case was one of the most audacious acts he had ever heard of. Allen shortly after the decision of the court had Officer Thompson arrested Allen on the charge of adultery in Massachusetts, which is a criminal offense in that State.

Modified Postal Regulations.

The Postmaster General has modified his regulations governing the delivery of letters and packages suspected of containing articles liable to customs, so as to allow customs officers opportunity at all times to examine them under the prescribed regulations.

The Inquiry into the Affairs of the Red Cloud Agency.

The Commissioners of Indian affairs says that the inquiry into the Red Cloud Agency affairs, being in the hands of competent gentlemen for investigation, with instructions to take freest range of inquiry and find whatever wrong exists that the facts will undoubtedly be reached. If they disclose frauds in the service no one can be more interested than himself in getting such facts. The statement that the alleged frauds have been heretofore frequently reported to him without receiving attention, he pronounces absolutely false, and refers to the investigation by Bishop Hare a committee some 18 months ago, which was made in consequence of similar charges then made against the Red Cloud Agency.

Commissioner Smith desires a Full Investigation.

Indian Commissioner Smith says he desires nothing so much as the severest scrutiny of his official acts by fair minded men respecting the charge against Secretary Delano of complicity with the frauds at the Red Cloud Agency. The Commissioner says it is but the simplest act of fairness for him to state he has no knowledge of any such complicity and knows nothing tending to show it.

The coroner's jury in the case of Andrew Killoran and John Walsh the water works laborers burned to death last Wednesday, have returned a verdict commenting severely on the overcrowding of the laborers in the boarding houses. Seventy-four men were lodging in a loft 80 feet by 25. The evidence pointed strongly to incendiarism on the part of Chas. Lee, keeper of one of the Boarding Houses, but was not conclusive and Lee and his wife have been discharged.

Drowned.

A 14 years old son of Wm. Mitchell, a dresser in the Pacific mills, was drowned this morning at Policy Pond, Windham N. H., while bathing.

The Pomeroy Boy's Autobiography

The autobiography of Jesse Pomeroy, the boy murderer, has just been given to the public, and excites considerable interest. It has been written by him while in jail and evinces much ingenuity for a boy of 16. Prof Marsh Pronounces Commissioner Smith's Explanation a Trick

NEW HAVEN July 18. Professor Marsh pronounces the attempted explanation published yesterday by Commissioner Smith in regard to affairs at Red Cloud Agency a characteristic trick of the Indian Bureau. The full report cited by the Commissioner is only one of a large number on file in the Interior Department that was favorable and it is now well known that the special commissioners who made it, owing mainly to the short time they were at the Agency were mistaken on several points, and some at least of these gentlemen have since informed the department to this effect.

SERIOUS RIOT IN SAN MIGUEL

The Garrison Attacked.

PRISONERS LIBERATED AND MANY MURDERS COMMITTED.

The Town Set on Fire.

How the Trouble Originated.

NEW YORK, July 18. Advices from Salvador give the following account of a dreadful riot at San Miguel in the South-ern part of the Republic. Discontent had been excited against the Government by its refusal to allow the pastoral the Bishop of Salvador had written, in a tone hostile to the laws, to be read in the church. There had been also considerable hostile feeling among the lower classes owing to some regulations requiring dealers to use a new market place. While matters were thus a Catholic priest named Pulacio preached a violent sermon against the authorities on Sunday, the 10th. That evening, arose and attacked Cabilao and liberated two hundred prisoners. They then proceeded to assault the garrison, and took the citadel, killed Generals Espino and Castro, cut the former to pieces, and threw the pieces at each other, split the skull of General Castro, and threw him over a wall. He died in three days.

A Mob

The Town Set on Fire—British Marines Quell the Riot

The garrison were nearly assassinated also many citizens. After this the mob set fire to some sixteen houses with terrible effect. Before the town was entirely destroyed it happened that the British steamer Tamiome was at La Union, when she landed her marines, who, with the garrison and troops from Amapala, marched to the relief of San Miguel, and Put Down the Mob.

Curate Polacios, at last accounts, was arrested, with others. Many of the infernal bandits have been shot, by President Gonzales, who arrived with troops. The damage is estimated at $2,000,000.

The Country Declared in a State of Seige.

The country has been declared in a state of seige and President Gonzales is taking measures to bring the perpetrators of the outbreak to punishment. The Diario, (official) and all public prints, abound in indignation against the priests, who were the instigators of this savage and sanguinary affair.

One Curious Discovery

was made after the murderous affair was over. On the persons of some of the dead rebels were found passports which read: "Peter, open to the bearer the gates of Heaven, who died for religion."

(Signed) GEORGE, Bishop of Salvador, and sealed with the seal of the Bishopric of San Salvador."

LONDON, July 17. The American rifle match began shooting at Wimbledon. In consequence of rain the match for the Queen's prize cup is postponed until Wednesday. Of the Americans Fulton has already scored 35, Gildersleeve 34, Yale 33, Carfield 31 and Dakin 27. The shooting is still in progress. If Fulton's score is equalled the match will be shot off next week.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The Great Disaster at Cucuta

NEW YORK, July 17. A letter from Cucuta June 15th, to the Bulletin, states that the whole valley is completely devastated by lava thrown up in torrents from the eight craters of the volcano to the extent of from 50 to 100 miles, where on the famous Maracaibo coffee imported into the United States to the extent of 20,000 quintals was produced. Lava beds to the thickness of one foot on an average cover up the once rich and productive Cucuta Valley. The value of this agricultural loss to the commercial community at Maracaibo and planters directly interested may be safely set down at from 15 to 20 millions of dollars with a slim prospect that it may be repaired in 20 or 30 years. The surviving nationswill not venture even near the scene much less to attempt to clear away the lava.

Who is Mrs. Winslow.

As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who, for upwards of thirty years, has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a Female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is, moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article, Mrs. Winslow is becoming world renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do RISE UP and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are DAILY sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No mother has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Try it, mothers—TRY IT NOW.—Ladies' Visitor, New York City. Sold by all Druggists.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

Manufactured at the Celebrated REMINGTON ARMORY, Ilion, N. Y., are the Latest and Best.

The REMINGTON SEWING MACHINES are rapidly becoming general favorites, wherever introduced. While it is not our purpose to underrate any other machine, we do claim that the REMINGTON is so complete as to overcome all the principal objections made against Shuttle Sewing Machines. That which has long been sought after by probably every Sewing Machine Company, has been obtained in the REMINGTON, namely: An even, round, tight-eye stitch on all kinds of goods, coarse or fine, without the use of COG-WHEEL GEARS, ROTARY CAMS, or LEVERS, and smoothness, ease, and silence in working. Its perfection of Design and Manufacture makes it the simplest, the most speedy, the most durable in the market.

Manufacturers of Clothing, Shoes, etc., etc., will find just what they want in our No. 2 Machine, which is superior to all others.

All kinds of Second hand Machines exchanged and sold on time, on the most reasonable terms. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administrator of the estate of Levi Lancaster, Jr., late of Maxfield, in said county, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration, by the sum of two hundred and ninety-nine dollars.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant him a license to sell, at public or private sale, and convey all of the real estate of which said Levi Lancaster, Jr., died seized and possessed, the same being situated in the said town of Maxfield, as, by a partial sale, of any entire portion thereof, the residue would be greatly depreciated in value, to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of administration.

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners for the County of Penobscot.

We the undersigned, inhabitants and tax payers of the town of Hermon, in said county, most respectfully represent, that in our opinion public convenience does not require or demand the opening of that part of the town road from Gilman H. Therefore we most respectfully ask and petition your Honors to examine the premises, and if consistent with your better judgment, discontinue the same, or so much thereof, as you may deem wise and just.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays and Sundays the Carriers' Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M. Also open evenings from 7½ to 8½ P. M.

Any irregularities on the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes, furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $32.50 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars. Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

DOMESTIC POSTAGE.

All Letters must be Pre-paid.—Letters for the mails in the United States, three cents the half ounce or single rate. City letters two cents half ounce or single rate.

NEWSPAPERS

After January 1st, 1875, all regular newspapers must be prepaid at the office of publication, at the rate of two cents per pound for each issue on weekly papers or those published oftener than once a week; less frequently than once a week, three cents. The same law applies to dealers.

County papers free, except to letter carrier offices, if papers coming to this office, if published in County, are subject to postage. Daily papers published in County, if delivered by carrier, one cent each, to be prepaid by stamp.

Postage to Canada.—Same as in the States on letters and papers, prepayment compulsory; merchandise limited to 8 ozs., postage 15 cents.

TRANSIENT PRINTED MATTER AND BOOKS AND MERCHANDISE.

One cent an ounce, or fraction, weight limited to four pounds. Liquids, and anything that will injure mail excluded. All matter of this class must be wrapped, so as to be examined, without destroying wrappers.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

All letters remaining in the office are advertised on Monday of each week. If not claimed in one month thereafter, they are then forwarded to Washington.

MONEY ORDERS.

Especial attention is called to the Money Order system, as a safe and cheap method of transmitting small sums through the mails. Orders are issued in sums of not more than fifty dollars. Larger amounts can be transmitted to the same person, at the same time, by additional orders.

RATES

On orders not exceeding $15, ... 10 cents
" over $15 and not exceeding $30, 15 cents.
" over $30 and not exceeding $40, 20 cents.
" over $40 and not exceeding $50, 25 cents.

Never put Money in a Letter—Always Procure a Money Order.

Office Hours—From 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

With facilities at our command we hope to make this favorite newspaper more interesting and acceptable during the coming year than ever before. Our connection with the ASSOCIATED PRESS, by which we receive the whole of their despatches by night and day, enables us to present in each issue

In politics the paper will continue to advocate and uphold the principles of the Republican party while claiming to be independent, in the highest and best sense of the word. While frankness and outspoken in its treatment of all public questions and firmly maintaining what it believes to be right it will avoid intolerance and make its appeals to the understanding rather than to prejudice. The year about to open will be fruitful of political events of important bearing upon the future of the country and it will be our aim to keep our readers thoroughly informed, and to favor such measures and policy as will best promote the welfare of all the people. The great interests of

of Maine will receive special attention and all the influence of the paper will be exerted in stimulating the growth and prosperity of our beloved State. We rigidly exclude from our columns everything of an immoral tendency, avoid sensational matter and seek to make a thoroughly reliable paper which will find

A Welcome in Every Family Circle.

To advertisers our columns open one of the best fields in New England, our circulation being among the best class of the people, and as this paper affords the principal medium of communication with a large and constantly increasing number of readers throughout Central and Eastern Maine. On the first of January the paper will appear in but with all its best features retained and with such improvements as we trust will inspire an increase of that support which it has hitherto enjoyed.
